Alia El Khadem

Advertising – Account Management (2020)

| Pilon School of Business

After emigrating from Lebanon, where she'd worked in the banking industry for nearly a decade, Alia wanted Canadian working experience that could help her shift careers. That's what she got during her co-op placement at Sheridan's Entrepreneurship Discovery and Growth Engine (EDGE), where Alia researched and developed content that promoted the hub's services, visibility and brand. "For someone like me who left her home in hopes of landing a job in advertising, EDGE supported me in my mission," says Alia, who is now employed by Oliver Agency in Toronto as an Account Executive. "It shared my values of teamwork, contagious curiosity, passion and dedication to drive progress, and it also allowed me to wear many hats and learn on the go."

Sarvesh Badhwar

Computer Systems Technology –
Software Development and Network Engineering (2020)

| Faculty of Applied Science and Technology

The more opportunities Sarvesh took advantage of at Sheridan, the easier it was to find the next one. "My idea was to get a taste of everything," says Sarvesh, who completed co-op placements with Sheridan, Deloitte Canada and RBC (Royal Bank of Canada) in addition to holding extracurricular positions as an international student representative, student senate member and Peer Mentor. "Eventually, I had gained so many different skills and experiences that it became very easy for me to get interviews with employers." In fact, Sarvesh was offered his first job before he even graduated, securing a Technology Analyst position with international IT consulting company Accenture.

Tharindra Illangasinghe

Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages
(TESOL Plus) (2020)

| Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences

Tharindra was certified to teach English in her native Sri Lanka, but she didn't feel well-equipped to be an effective instructor. That changed after a year at Sheridan, where the Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages graduate certificate program exposed Tharindra to different teaching approaches, gave her a better understanding of the English language and gave her valuable experience. "It was a whole new world. Just by watching my professors, I learned a lot about teaching," says Tharindra, who spent five months working for Sheridan as a part-time English teacher after she graduated. "Before I left Sri Lanka, I applied to teach at a lot of places but did not receive a positive response from most of them. When I returned, I got called for many interviews and am now working with two reputed organizations. It really worked out for me."

Teenaz Javat

Canadian Journalism for Internationally Trained Writers (2008)

| Faculty of Animation, Arts & Design

After working for five years as a print journalist in India and Pakistan, Teenaz put her career on hold when she immigrated to Canada in 1997. She spent the next eight years as a stay-at-home mom to her two children. Sheridan's former Canadian Journalism for Internationally Trained Writers graduate certificate program helped Teenaz transition back into the field and build a network of contacts during a six-week internship at the Toronto Star. "I got a few stories with my byline published, which was definitely a door-opener," says Teenaz. "The opportunity to work at the Star enabled me to get a toehold in the business. A month later, I was called in to interview as a casual contributor for the CBC, and I'm still there 13 years later."

Riegel Smith

Community and Justice Services (2021)

| Faculty of Applied Health and Community Studies

Having served as a volunteer youth mentor in his native Jamaica, Riegel appreciates the value of new experiences. Even though practicums weren't mandatory in his program during the COVID-19 pandemic, Riegel volunteered at Brampton's Salvation Army Cuthbert House, an open custody and detention facility that helps reintegrate young males into the community. "My professor said it would look good on my résumé, and it gave me experience, built my confidence and made me more marketable," says the former teacher. Riegel was hired as a full-time youth support supervisor at Our Place Peel, a Mississauga emergency youth shelter, shortly after he graduated. "I interviewed for a support worker role, but they ended up offering me a supervisor position after seeing my experience and the way I spoke and conducted myself."

Land acknowledgment statement

We acknowledge the land for sustaining us and for providing us with the necessities of life. This territory is covered by the Dish with One Spoon treaty and the Two Row Wampum treaty which emphasize the importance of joint stewardship, peace and respectful relationships. As we reflect on land acknowledgments, let us remember that we are all stewards of the land and of each other.

We recognize the land on which we gather has been and still is the traditional territory of several Indigenous nations, including the Anishinaabe, the Haudenosaunee Confederacy, the Wendat, the Métis and the Mississaugas of the Credit First Nation. Since time immemorial, numerous Indigenous nations and Indigenous peoples have lived and passed through this territory.

Sheridan affirms it is our collective responsibility to honour the land, as we honour and respect those who have gone before us, those who are here, and those who have yet to come. We are grateful for the opportunity to be learning, working and thriving on this land.
